

WRESTLERS MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

Ex-Middleweight Champion F. S Lewis Arrived Last Night From Oregon.

READY FOR THE MAT.

Driggs and Pillings Will Wrestle for Amateur Championship as a Preliminary to the Big Match.

Everything is now ready for the big wrestling contest which is scheduled for the Grand theater tomorrow night, and indications are that the attendance will be very heavy. Tickets were placed on sale at the theater box office yesterday morning, and will be on sale until the match begins. Frank S. Lewis, ex-middleweight champion of the world, who is to meet the local champion, Charley Ross, arrived here last evening from Baker City, Or. This match was made through the This match was made through the "News" about three weeks ago when the sporting editor of this paper received a challenge from Lewis to meet either Ross or Thompson. The former at once accepted the challenge. Articles of agreement were drawn up and signed by each principal. They call for a catch-ascatch-can contest. Police Gazette rules to govern, no hold barred, and two falls out of three win the match. Since Lewis signed the agreement, he has met and defeated the Australian champion, Wadkins, taking two straight falls. Lewis is considered one of the best men in the country when it comes to the art of wrestling. He is a thick set, sturdily built powerful man, and will have an advantage of probably more than 15 pounds over Ross. He is familiar with all the tricks known to the game and should make a hard fight against any man in the country. He declares that he is in the best of condition and fully exepcts to defeat Ross.

The latter's ability is well known here. He has defeated every man who has card to take a chance with him. Ross is what may be called a "sure man." He may not be as tast as some professional wrestlers, but he can do quick work when necessary. He is a "stayer" and has a splendid defense against men who may be stronger than he is. He has no fear as to the the outcome of tomorrow nights struggle although he willinging admits that Lewis is the hardest game he has tacgled for many years. Ross has always made good here in his handicap matches.

It will be remembered what he did to Garvin when the best of the paper of the hardest game he has tacgled for many years. 'News' about three weeks ago when

As a preliminary to the main event, there will be a "blood match" between Driggs and Pillings for the eamateur championship of the state. This contest will undoubtedly prove highly interesting to the fans as both men are in fine fettle and each is determined to carry off the honor.

RACES AT INGLESIDE.

Favorites and Second Choices Carried Off Most Events.

San Francisco, Feb. 2.—Favorites and second choices took most of the races at Ingleside today, the only surprise being Rellick, who scored at odds of 12 to 1. One of the features was the third, over the Futurity course. The Jennings filly, Gold Money, was a 1 to 2 favorite and won in a gallop from Money Muss, the pacemaker. Hagerdon, the second choice, finished third. In the last race Martinmas and Nigrette had a struggle through the stretch, the first named getting the decision by half a length. Out of respect to the memory of the late William C Whitney the flags were at halfmast at the track. Results:

First race , seven furlongs, selling—Mr. Dingle won, Isabellita second, Little Sister third. Time—1:28.

SEOUL, SEAT OF EXCITEMENT.

"Grafting" One Adjunct of Civilization Which Appears to be Indigenous in Corea.

Special Correspondence.

Seoul, Corea, Jan. 17 .- The seat of excitement in the far east seems now to be Seoul rather than Tokyo or Port Arthur. As the probable meeting ground of the land forces of Japan and Russia in the event of war Corea has been attracting attention for some time, but now the Coreans are taking a hand in the game themselves and are trying by popular demonstrations against foreigners and by other means to add to the disturbance. United States Minister Allen, forseeing the growth of ill feeling toward outsiders, asked some weeks ago for marines to protect the American legation. These were sent to him from Manila to the number of 100. Recently another detachment of 64 men and a machine gun were landed at Chemulpo by the gunboat Vicksburg, which remains in that portal alongside a German man-of-war. Mr Allen has asked for a still larger guard but as yet the authorities in Washing-ton have been unable to see the need of it. Nearly all the powers have sent marines to Seoul. All except those of Russia came here from Chemulpo over the 26 miles long imperial railroad, but the Russians had to walk, as Japan now controls the railway and refused to issue tickets to the czar's sea

So far no overt act of hostility to ward foreigners has been committed, and the proverbial meekness of the Coreans indicates that the talk of a popular rising is nothing but talk. Still Minister Allen doesn't believe in tak ing chances. One of his precautions i the furnishing of an armed escort to every American woman and child who has to go into the streets.

The legationers in Seoul have no quarter to themselves, as in most other capitals, but live in houses formerly occupied by Corean nobles scattered throughout the city. While the resilike all other Corean houses on the the city last summer, but were not com-masters and to amuse them are their principal duties in life. In addition to his many wives the emperor has a fine assortment of dancing women, many of whom are wives of his retainers. These dancing women are perhaps the best looking women of Corea, where femi-nine beauty is not abundant, though the men are generally tall, straight and handsome. Corean dancing is not ungraceful and resembles that of the Japanese. The feet are scarcely moved at all, the body swaying to the music. The dress of the nobles at court is very costly, and their silken robes are beautifully embroidered and decked with gems. The hat is the most curious part gems. The hat is the most curious part of the uniform, a transparent "topper" made of gauze with wings on it and always worn except while the owner is

The recognized religion of Corea is Buddhism of a rather debased form. The priests are men of importance and of reputed plety. They dress in black, gray or dark slate, but almost invariably wear black trousers thus making a decided contrast to the ordinary citizen, whose dress is white or brown. In the ports many religions flourish. In fact, the toleration is remarkable. Devil worship has crept into the religion of the majority until it has greatly cor-rupted it, and shrines of innumerable gods are omnipresent.

Corea is rich in minerals, which, with the fertile fields between the lofty mountains and the fisheries of the mountains and the fisheries of the coast, will give the country a position in the commercial world as soon as it is opened up. The Japanese are building a railroad from Fusan, on the southeast coast, to Seoul, while the Corean government has surveyed a road from Seoul to Wiju, on the Yalu river, which will be a continuation of the Japanese railway. When completed the system will enverse the entire em. the system will traverse the entire em-pire from north to south. The Japanese road was projected and partially ished by a private company, but with the rising of the war cloud the Japanese government assumed control and is rushing work rapidly in order to have as much of the read as possible ready for the use of troops if war is declared. Fuser is almost directly across the strait of Corea from Nagasaki, whence the Japanese transports may sail, and s also opposite Saseho, the home port of the Japanese fleet. In addition to the Fusan-Seoul road there is the short road from Chemulpo to Seoul, already mentioned, which in a clash the Russians are likely to make use of, as it is but a short sail from Port Arthur. In the event of war part of the Russian army will probably cross the Yalu at Wiju and march on Scoul along the line of the projected railroad. Large bodies of Russian infantry are already on the border awaiting the word to advance.

TOAD POISON.

The popular theory that a toad's skin contains venom has been confirmed by Prof. Kravkoff's investigations. Irritation, inflammation, and even gangrene and death have been known to occur from contact with a toad's skin. Prof. Kravkoff, from experiments on animals with the active principle of poison, "phrynin," has found the results of subcutaneous injection to be increased blood pressure, marked influence on the heart's action, which first beats quickly and irregularly, and finally stops. In warm blooded animals, salivation, vomiting, diarrhoea, asthma, and convulsions occur.

All three symptoms are the same as with digitalin, the active principle of the foxglove. Phrynin may also be used as a local anaesthetic, like cocaine .-London express.

REGULATED BASKET BALL. An important meeting was held recently in New York to discuss the basket ball situation and see if something could not be done to put the game on a firm basis in so far as amateurs are concerned. The A. A. U. basket ball chairman, Dr. Guilck, held a conference with Harry Fisher of Columbia college, who is president of the Intercollegiate association. Others at the conference were J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, and G. T. Hepbron, secretary of the A. A. U. basket ball committee. Fisher said that it was the desire of the colleges to keep the sport clean, and the colleges would agree to play when they competed outside only teams that are registered with the A. A. U. or members of it. This in no way interferes with their playing teams that represent educational institutions.

Fisher further stated that he would at once write to all colleges of the Intercollegiate association and request them to play only registered teams.

Mr. Allen is over six feet tall and complained that he could not stand erect in his rooms with his silk hat on his head. This complaint caused con-siderable frivolous comment in Washington, and one undersecretary wrote to know why the minister wore his hat in the house anyway. The answer was simple. It is the custom of the country. The official suggestion that the minister adopt the fez as his court headgear was treated with scorn by Machalen, and he continues to stoop when indoors. The upper class of Coreans live in fairly good style in their earthen pal-aces, but the huts of the common peoaces, but the huts of the common peo-ple are squalid to the last degree. Fresh air and water are especially ab-horrent to the plebeians. Next to these two things they consider work their worst enemy.
